

Making it REAL Project

(Raising Early Achievement in Literacy)

Making it REAL is a project that aims to look at ways in which parents are involved in their children's learning at home. Our Early Years team and learning mentors offer families a series of home visits focussing on environmental print, books and mark making sessions. Children and their families also engage in familiar activities such as a walk to the shops, visit to the library and an end of project mark making and reading party. The purpose of the project is to support children with their early literacy development by providing a variety of opportunities for them to engage in fun, everyday activities with their families.
